Vienna, May 30, N. S.

THE Accounts we have from Italy and other Parts, of the Progreſs of the Great Duke and Dutcheſs of Tuſcany and Prince Charles of Lorrain, in their Return from Florence hither, import in Subſtance; That the Grand Duke deſigned to have gone by Sea from Leghorn to Genoa, and the Republick of Genoa made great Preparations to receive him: But the Wind not being favourable at the Time his Royal Highneſs propoſed to embark, he reſolved to ſave Time by making the Journey by Land, leaving the Grand Dutcheſs at Florence, and appointing her to go to Milan, where he would meet her in his Return from Turin. His Royal Highneſs and Prince Charles of Lorrain his Brother, paſſing thro' Piacenza, Tortona, and Aleſſandria, arrived at Turin the 3d Inſtant, where they were received with all Marks of Affection and Eſteem by the King of Sardinia and the Queen their Siſter, and were entertained with all Magnificence. On the 6th his Royal Highneſs and the Prince his Brother went to Milan, where they found the Grand Dutcheſs, who had arrived there the 2d, and been received as Archdutcheſs of Auſtria with the greateſt Splendor and publick Demonſtrations of Joy; ſo were his Royal Highneſs and Prince Charles; and on the 8th they all left Milan, took their Way by Lodi, Cremona, and Mantua, to the Tiroleſe, and arrived at Inſpruck on the 13th. The Dutcheſs Dowager of Lorrain had been appointed to meet her two Sons the Grand Duke and Prince Charles at Stokach, and her Royal Highneſs, with the Princeſs her Daughter, took her Journey thither from Commerci; but at Schaffhuyſen a Courier met her, with Letters from the Grand Duke, deſiring her to proceed to Inſpruck, which ſhe did accordingly, and arrived there on the 19th; and after four Days Stay there, her Royal Highneſs ſet out the 25th on her Return to Commerci by the Way ſhe came: The Grand Duke and Dutcheſs, with Prince Charles, ſet out at the ſame time for this Place, and arriving here this Morning, proceeded immediately for Laxemberg, where the Emperour now is.

Vienna, June 3, N. S. There is as yet no News of the Motions of the Turks; as to the Imperialiſts, there are about 25000 Men drawn together already at Peterwaradin, towards forming the grand Army; amongſt them are ſeveral ſick, but not one with the leaſt Indication of the Plague. Part of the Garriſon of Belgrade, is ſaid to have been drawn out towards forming this Body at Peterwaradin, which gives Ground to conjecture that the Imperialiſts have a Deſign upon Zwornick.
